Prevention is best!

Be proactive rather than reactive!

Most Common Types of Behavioral Triggers in Dementia

- Confusion
- Pain/discomfort
- Basic needs not met
- Changing or overwhelming environment

- Remove the threat
- Create space
- Take his/her side

- Crouch down to get at or below the person's eye level
- Calm your voice
- Relax your body
- Communicate openly
- Be willing to go where she/he is at the moment

De-briefing

- What was the behavior?
- Was it harmful?
- Did something trigger it?
- What happened immediately after?
- Could something be causing the person pain?
- Could this be related to medication or illness?
- What can we put in place to prevent reoccurrence?

Common problem—Wanting to go home...

- Don't tell them “you are home”
- Investigate
  - Unmet needs (hunger, thirst, toilet, tired)
  - Environment (noisy, people leaving)
- Responses to try
  - “Oh, you have to get home. Is there something you need there, or do you just want to be there?”
  - “Let's head on out...,”

Self-awareness is imperative!

- Be aware of how our words and actions affect those living with dementia!
- Foster a positive, welcoming environment
Polite—Respectful—
Compassionate—Courteous
- Prioritize training for staff in communication, understanding behavior as communication of underlying needs, recognition of behaviors/attitudes that can trigger responses from PLWD

Questions?

Do the best you can until you know better. Then when you know better, do better.
